1. The disclosure should be carefully reviewed and ensure that any and all grammatical, idiomatic, and spelling or other minor errors are corrected. For instance, in claims 1 and 6, line 4, after "output voltage", ":" should be changed to --; -- or --, --.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Higashi (U.S. Pat. No. 6,710279).

With regard to claims 1 and 6, Higashi (i.e., Figs 1, 2) shows a method and an apparatus for providing a regulated DC voltage comprising a DC voltage converter (210, 230) being operative to produce a regulated output voltage (Vo) and a control circuit (220) being operative to control the operation of the DC voltage converter based on the piecewise linear output voltage (Output Voltage V) vs. output current load (Output Current A) line characteristics (VoAM).

3. Claims 2-5 and 7-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

None of prior art of record taken alone or in combination shows the control circuit for producing a constant voltage for load current values less than or equal to a leakage current value, and producing a linearly decreasing voltage from the constant voltage to a full load voltage for load current values greater than the leakage current value and more detailed limitations recited in the claims 2-5 and 7-12.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Wirth et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 5,270,657) and Takahashi et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 5,903,447) also disclose regulated DC voltage converters each of which comprises substantial elements as recited in the claims of the instant application.
